FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CyberMetrics Corporation Delivers Services According To Your Schedule:
Web-Based Training Custom-Tailored When You Need It

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. – June 24, 2005 – CyberMetrics Corporation, a leading provider of quality asset management and industry compliance solutions now offers web training.

In order to better serve our customers, CyberMetrics offers web training. Concentrated one to two hour lesson plans focus on the topics of most interest to you. “Conducted according to your schedule, online instruction speeds the learning curve and helps you to implement your software solution faster,” reports Kim Dittlof, Corporate Training Manager.

Busy schedules, time constraints, inability to take time away from work, these and similar barriers are removed with web-based training. The service is incredibly easy; a telephone and Internet connection is all that is needed to train and problem-solve online with one of CyberMetrics highly trained software instructors. Web-based training allows customers to get the most out of their valuable time and they are encouraged to take advantage of this new training service.
