CyberMetrics Announces Julie Turetzky as new Director of Marketing

Experienced professional will manage integrated marketing and advertising programs for CyberMetrics.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. – December 7, 2005 – CyberMetrics Corporation, a leading provider of quality asset management and industry compliance solutions has announced the appointment of Julie Turetzky as Director of Marketing.

Larry Bagan, COO states "The expertise, professionalism, and enthusiasm that Julie brings to CyberMetrics will be of great assistance to the company in helping us to meet our current and future growth initiatives.

Julie will be responsible for the planning and management of integrated marketing communications and advertising programs supporting all departments within CyberMetrics. Julie earned her business degree from the University of Arizona where she majored in marketing, and brings over nine years of experience in the marketing and advertising field to CyberMetrics. Julie has spent time working within advertising agencies in Arizona and California where she managed marketing programs for clients in various industries. Additionally, Julie was responsible for marketing at the Tucson division of Hanley Wood - a publisher of home and construction related magazines - for approximately five years. Julie's experience includes the coordination and management of print, outdoor, online, radio and television advertising as well as printed collateral materials, packaging and web site designs and programming."
